VIDYA KAIPA

Innovation Strategist

As a startup native, I regularly use human-centered design, Lean methodology, and a futures-oriented mindset to design products, projects, and processes that scale. I'm excited to apply this entrepreneurial mindset to helping predict and prepare for a future in which "De-extinction Zoologists" and "Mind-Uploading Re-integration Specialists" are common careers. As an Innovation Analyst on Idea Couture's Global Strategy team, I'm eager to tackle "pants on fire" problems that require both scientific structure and humanist empathy to solve.

My penchant for curiousity-driven problem-solving, comprehensive project management, happy client relationships, and dynamic process development complement Idea Couture's interdisciplinary nature. In addition, my degrees in sociology and political science make me a perfect conduit between the anthropologists and technologists on staff.

Below are a few examples of my skills most relevant to the role of Innovation Analyst.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

MentorCloud (Competitive Analysis)

Examined competitive landscape, developed qualitative and quantitative measurements to determine company success, and wrote reports advising company on marketing and sales strategy.

The Connected Age (Published Book)

Researched and wrote comprehensive reports on economic philosophy, international affairs, and structural change for Mastek CEO Sudhakar Ram. Book released in 2014.

Why Youth Don't Vote (Thesis)

Completed honors thesis dissecting young voter turnout, sociopolitical trends in political participation, and related economic factors while studying at UC Berkeley and University of Cambridge.

CLIENT EXPERIENCE

Taproot Foundation (Nonprofit Partnerships)

Developed partnership with the Taproot Foundation to host a series of workshops and discussions to help startups explore pro bono volunteering. Sponsored Taproot at events.

Runway Incubator (For-Profit Partnerships)

Developed partnerships with every major startup-related meetup group in the Bay Area to create independent pipeline of events, panels, workshops, earning Runway $7K/month and new clients.

SF Office of Civic Innovation (Government Partnerships)

Supported the planning and implementation of the San Francisco Entrepreneurs-in-Residence Program at Runway and introduced 10 EIR companies to partners within the Runway ecosystem.

DESIGN EXPERIENCE

MentorCloud (UX / Graphics / Collateral)

Runway Incubator (UX / Email / Collateral)

Freelance (UX / Graphics / Collateral)

Redesigned and managed visual and written content on MentorCloud's website. Built documentation, infographics, and other graphic content for landing pages, conferences, and email campaigns.

Developed visual content for website, email campaigns, social media, and user guides. Updated website UX. Created templates for all official documents, including slide decks, contracts, and promos.

Worked with a range of clients to utilize design thinking and UX design to reimagine marketing campaigns, website collateral, logos, and photography. Consulted on design strategy.

MARKETING EXPERIENCE

MentorCloud (Marketing Strategy)

Managed MentorCloud's digital existence, including website design and maintenance, social media channels, advertising, strategic outreach, and Lean Startup-inspired experiments.

Runway Incubator (Event Marketing)

Streamlined existing marketing efforts and introduced new forms of outreach to residents and attendants of past and future events hosted at Runway. Emails had 50%+ open rate.

Go Overseas (Content Curation / Editing)

Served as Go Overseas' Chief Editor. Established content strategy including calendars, categorization, and outreach. Determined topics for future articles, liaised with quest writers, and posted to site.
